PREFACE.

THIS little work is published at the request and by the authority of the General Convention of Wisconsin. Its object is to preserve, in a permanent form, those facts connected with the formation and early history of churches and ecclesiastical organizations in our State, which will be interesting and valuable for reference hereafter, and which it is desirable should be known both to Christians in the State and to the public generally.

The labor of preparing it has devolved almost entirely upon the Rev. Stephen Peet, who during seven years of labor as agent of the American Home Missionary Society in Wisconsin, had accumulated much important material for such a work. The undersigned were appointed by the Convention a committee of consultation to advise with the author in issuing the publication. The distance at which the members of the committee are separated from each other has prevented a full and united consideration of the matter. A majority of the committee, however, residing near the author, have had the whole under review, and those more remote have received such representations respecting the character and contents of the work, that they are confident in giving it their approval.

The design of the publication is to give a simple communication of facts. The author has made most diligent efforts to secure authentic and reliable information on every particular embraced in its contents. The labor thus expended has been far greater than would be supposed by the cursory reader. The result presented, though it may not be absolutely perfect, is believed to be free from any material inaccuracies. To make the work as concise as possible, it has been necessary to make some selections from the mass of material presented. In doing this, the principle has been adopted of embodying in the briefest compass every thing important to a complete history of the course of things in our connection, down to the beginning of the present year. The committee believe that, in this respect, the author has conformed to the wishes of those who called for the publication, so far that the result will give general satisfaction.

No attempt, by way of argument, has been made to discuss questions of ecclesiastical order, or even to defend our organization from objections which have been raised against it. We believe those objections to proceed from the suspicions and prejudices of persons but partially acquainted with the system. The book presents, as simple facts, the fruits of the actual operation of that system for the period of ten years. These speak for themselves, and we think will serve to correct misapprehension and relieve objections in all candid minds. Regarding it as a way-mark set up just at this point of our course, it behoves us, in view of the success of the efforts made to establish christian institutions in this young State, to write upon it, "Hitherto hath the LORD helped us;" and giving God the glory for what He has wrought to double our diligence for the future, confidently looking to Him for the continuance of His favor. It is our desire and hope that these statistics may encourage and stimulate the churches and ministers belonging to the Convention, to increased interest and zeal for the promotion of true piety and the building up of Christ's kingdom in the hearts of this growing people.

EXPLANATIONS.

It will be observed that the name of the author occurs with considerable frequency in connection with the organization of the churches. This was owing to the nature of his labors as a missionary agent. Historical verity required the facts to be stated as they occurred.

Several churches are noticed in this work which have been organized since the beginning of 1851. Information of their organization was received before the account of the churches went to press and it was deemed expedient to give them a place.

HISTORY OF THE CONVENTIONS.

ORGANIZATION AND PROCEEDINGS AT THE SUCCESSIVE MEETINGS OF THE GENERAL CONVENTION.

The first Ecclesiastical organization was a Presbytery, which was formed at Milwaukee, January 17, 1839, under the title of "The Presbytery of Wisconsin," and consisted of four ministers and two delegates, viz.—Rev. Gilbert Crawford, Lemuel Hall, Moses Ordway and Cyrus Nichols, and Elder Samuel Hinman, from the Presbyterian Church of Milwaukee, and Deacon Asa Clarke, from the Congregational Church of Prairieville, (now Waukesha.)

The Presbytery adopted the Constitution, Confession of Faith and Discipline of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, but was never connected with any Synod or the General Assembly. Provision was made whereby Congregational Churches might become connected with the Presbytery, and a resolution was adopted allowing Presbyterian Churches to elect their Ruling Elders either for a limited period or for life, as they might choose.

The next meeting was appointed at Racine,

July 4, 1839, at which time members of the Presbytery and others met, but there not being a quorum, they adjourned to Milwaukee and held their meeting July 5. At this meeting the name of the Presbytery was changed to that of "The Presbytery of Milwaukee." Rev. Stephen Peet, of Green Bay, united with the body, and the churches of Green Bay, Geneva, and East Troy were received. The two latter were represented by delegates. Rev. Mr. Crawford, at his own request, was dismissed to the Presbytery of Niagara, N. Y.

The third meeting of Presbytery was held at the South School House in Prairieville, Feb. 11, 1840. Four ministers, five delegates, and three corresponding members were present. Rev. O. F. Curtis and the churches of South Prairieville and Racine were received into Presbytery and the delegates of those churches took their seats. A committee was appointed to prepare a summary Confession of Faith and Covenant to be used by the churches.

The fourth meeting was held at Geneva, June 11, 1840. Four ministers, nine delegates, and four corresponding members were present. Rev. D. A. Sherman, from the Association of New Haven West, Ct., was received. The "Christian Psalmist" was recommended to be used in the churches, and a committee appointed to obtain a supply.

A special meeting of the Presbytery was held at Troy, Oct. 6, 1840, for the purpose of consumming the plan of union between Presbyterians and Congregationalists. Rev. Jeremiah Porter and Rev. Solomon Chaffee were received as members of Presbytery. The churches of Mineral Point and Platteville were also received. The latter was represented by a delegate.

A Congregational Convention had been called and was now assembled in this place for conference with the Presbytery in reference to the union of the two denominations in one organization. The subject was fully considered and discussed in their separate meetings, a free and friendly conference was had between the two bodies, and after much deliberation and prayer, the plan of union was adopted under the title of "THE PRESBYTERIAN AND CONGREGATIONAL CONVENTION OF WISCONSIN."* The Constitution as amended and agreed upon by the two bodies in their separate meetings, was unanimously adopted. The Presbytery was merged in the Convention, and the following churches represented in the Congregational Convention were recognized as belonging to this Convention and the delegates took their seats, viz. :—Beloit, Southport, Salem, Troy, Lisbon and Pewaukee, and Caldwell's Prairie.

The Confession of Faith and Covenant, presented by the committee, was considered and adopted, and directed to be printed with proof texts.†

* See History of the Plan of Union, page 22.

† This is the Confession of Faith now in use.

From this time to Sept. 1842, this Convention was the only ecclesiastical body, and performed the business which now belongs to the District Conventions.

The Convention held a special meeting at Green Bay, Jan. 2, 1841, at the request of the church in that place, and installed Rev. Jeremiah Porter as their pastor. Rev. C. Marsh and the church at Stockbridge were received.

The next meeting was held at Racine, Feb. 9, 1841. Present, five ministers, eight delegates and three corresponding members. Three ministers and one church were received. Mr. M. P. Kinney was licensed to preach the gospel. The claims of the Bible cause were presented by an agent of the A. B. S., and resolutions passed in favor of the object. A series of resolutions were also adopted on the subject of Christian Benevolence, which have since been printed.

The Convention held its next meeting at Prairieville, June 9, 1841. Twelve ministers, fifteen delegates, and four corresponding members were present. Two churches were received. The Lord's Supper was celebrated. Resolutions were passed in reference to Temperance and Home Missions, and arrangement made for addresses on the various benevolent objects at the next meeting of Convention.

An adjourned meeting was held at Beloit, Oct. 5, 1841. Eleven ministers, eight delegates, and five corresponding members were present. Mr. R. R. Snow was licensed to preach the gospel.

Important discussions were had, and resolutions were adopted on the subjects of slavery, the Sabbath, and revivals, and addresses were delivered on education, Sabbath Schools, and temperance.

The annual meeting was held at Southport, Feb. 8, 1842. There were present thirteen ministers, fifteen delegates, and three corresponding members. Four ministers and three churches were received.

Rev. R. N. Wright, who was present as delegate from the "Congregational and Presbyterian Convention of Northern Illinois," made statements respecting that organization and the state of religion in that region; whereupon, it was "Resolved, That we learn with pleasure of the formation of a Convention in Northern Illinois on a similar plan to ours, and that we cordially reciprocate their proposition for correspondence by delegation."

Rev. D. Clary was appointed to attend the next meeting at Chicago in May, and Rev. H. Foote his substitute.

A special meeting of the Convention was held by request at Platteville, March 3, 1842, and Mr. A. M. Dixon, who had been received under the care of the Presbytery at Troy, was ordained. Two ministers and one church were received.

The next regular meeting, was held at Geneva, June 14, 1842. Present, fifteen ministers, seventeen delegates and five corresponding members. The District Conventions of Milwaukee, Beloit, and Mineral Point were erected, their boundaries arranged and the ministers and churches set off accordingly, and the time and places of their first meetings designated.

At the request of Rev. O. F. Curtis and the church in Prairieville, Convention agreed to install him as pastor of said church, and a commission was appointed to meet at that place on the 29th inst. for this purpose.

A constitution for the District Conventions, prepared by a committee, was considered and approved and recommended to be adopted by those bodies. Amendments and alterations were also made in the constitution of the General Convention to adapt it to the present arrangement.

Measures were proposed for establishing a Literary Institution, which were discussed at some length, and the subject was committed to a committee to report at the next meeting.

A special meeting of Convention was held at Prairieville, October 18, 1842, in reference to an Institution of learning. The committee made a report, which was discussed at great length, and the subject was again committed to a committee to make further inquiries and report at the next meeting. There were present at this meeting, twelve minister, eleven delegates and four corresponding members.

The next meeting of the Convention was held at Troy, February 14, 1843. Present, sixteen ministers and twelve delegates. The District Conventions severally reported that they had organized and adopted the Constitution as recommended. Letters were prepared and directed to be sent to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, and the General Associations of New England, proposing a correspondence with those bodies.

The subject of establishing a Collegiate Institution was again under consideration. The committee reported and the subject was discussed at great length; it was finally decided that the plan proposed did not afford sufficient prospect of success to justify the Convention in adopting it.*

Two thousand copies of the Constitution of the General and District Conventions, Rules of business and Confession of Faith were ordered to be printed.

From this time the Convention met only once a year. The meetings commenced on Thursday evening and usually continued four days, including the Sabbath. The evenings were generally occupied with addresses on some of the subjects of benevolent effort, after the manner of the "Anniversary exercises" of Benevolent Societies. Beside the usual routine of business, an hour was usually spent at the opening of each morning session in devotional exercises, and frequently other portions of time were set apart for this purpose. Resolutions were discussed and adopted on various subjects of interest and importance, some of which will be found in another part of this work. On the Sabbath there was preaching in the various churches in the place by members of the Convention, and in the afternoon the Lord's Supper was celebrated by the Convention in connexion with the church in the place,

The next meeting of the Convention was held at Beloit, October 5, 1843. Present twenty-one ministers, seven delegates and four corresponding members. Letters were read from the General Associations of Connecticut and New Hampshire, and the General Conference of Maine, reciprocating the proposition for correspondence, and expressing a deep interest in our behalf. Information was also received that the General Assembly had appointed a delegate to attend this meeting, but was not able to be present.

The evenings were occupied in addresses on Foreign Missions, Home Missions and Anti-Slavery, and resolutions were adopted in favor of these objects.

Resolutions respecting revivals were discussed and adopted, and a season spent in special prayer and consecration to God in this work.

The Convention held its next meeting at Platteville, October 3, 1844. Sixteen ministers, eleven delegates and six corresponding members present. A letter from the General Convention of Vermont was read. The several subjects of benevolence were considered, and the evenings were occupied in addresses. Resolutions were adopted in favor of the Sabbath School, the Tract cause, Colportage and Anti-Slavery.

The committee on Church Psalmody, appointed at the last meeting, reported, and in accordance with their recommendation the "Church Psalmist" was unanimously approved and recommended to be used by the churches.

The next regular meeting was held at Milwaukee, October 2, 1845. Present, twenty-five ministers, thirteen delegates and five corresponding members. The anniversaries of various benevolent objects were held in the evenings, and addresses were made on the subject of Education, Foreign and Home Missions and Romanism. Letters from corresponding bodies were received and read. Delegates were appointed to the General Assembly and the General Associations of New England. Resolutions were adopted in reference to the circulation of the Bible, Sabbath Schools, Temperance and the establishment of a religious paper at Chicago.

The Convention met at Troy, September 17, 1846. Present, thirty-one ministers, eleven delegates and three corresponding members. A letter was received from the General Association of Illinois, proposing a correspondence. Their Confession of Faith was read and the proposition was cordially accepted. Delegates were appointed to corresponding bodies.

On the request of the Convention of Beloit, that body was divided, and the Convention of Madison was set-off, the boundaries defined and the time and place of their first meeting designated. Resolutions were discussed and adopted, relative to Slavery, Colportage, the religious education of children and Peace Societies.

Oct. 7, 1847, the Convention met at Mineral Point. Present thirty ministers, and twelve delegates. Letters from corresponding bodies were read, and the delegates who had attended the meetings of those bodies, made their reports. Addresses were delivered on education and Foreign and Home Missions. A report on the subject of the desecration of the Sabbath by travelling, was adopted and directed to be sent to several papers for publication. The agent of the A. H. M. S. gave an account of his labors and Convention adopted a minute on the subject, and also requested him to prepare the facts and statistics which he had collected, for publication.

The next meeting of the Convention was held at Southport, (Kenosha,) Oct. 5, 1848. Thirty-one ministers, eight delegates, and seven corresponding members were present. Resolutions were discussed and adopted relative to the action of the Prudential Committee of the A. B. C. F. M. in reference to slavery, and also in regard to the position of other benevolent societies on this subject.

Addresses were delivered on Foreign Missions, the Sabbath, and the Tract cause. Seasons of conference and prayer were held in reference to the revival of religion within the bounds of Convention.

- Delegates who had attended the meetings of corresponding bodies reported. A letter from Rev. Dr. Bushnell who was appointed delegate from the General Association of Connecticut, was received and read. Resolutions were adopted respecting Beloit College, and also requesting Mr. Peet to prepare and publish the statistics and History of the Churches in Wisconsin.

The Convention held its next meeting at Beaver Dam, October 4, 1849. Present forty-two ministers, thirteen delegates, and six corresponding members.

Resolutions were adopted on these subjects, and in relation to the Temperance cause. A resolution was passed again requesting the publication of the History of the Churches, and Rev. J. J. Miter, D. Clary, A. L. Chapin, H. Foote, E. D. Seward and J. Lewis were appointed a committee on the subject.

The last meeting of the Convention was held at Janesville, October 3, 1850. Present, forty-six ministers, twenty-four delegates, and fifteen corresponding members.

Delegates were present from the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, the General Convention of Vermont, and the General Association of Illinois, and letters were received from the General Association of Connecticut, and the General Association of Michigan.

A communication was made by Rev. Mr. Loss, as a committee of a convention held at Chicago, in May last, relative to the establishment of a Theological Seminary in the North West, and requesting the co-operation of this body. After considerable discussion on the subject, a resolution was adopted expressing the readiness of the Convention to co-operate in such an undertaking, provided the Institution shall be established on a platform which shall unite the Presbyterians and Congregationalists generally in the region.

Addresses were made on various subjects and delegates to Corresponding bodies were appointed.

The Committee on publishing the History of the Churches were authorized to determine the size of the work and the number of copies, and to publish it at the expense of the Convention.

The next meeting of the Convention was appointed at Platteville, on the First Thursday of October, 1851, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

HISTORY OF THE PLAN OF UNION.

A union of Presbyterians and Congregationalists was contemplated from the first movement towards an ecclesiastical organization in Wisconsin. When the Presbytery was organized in January 1839, two churches were represented, one Presbyterian and one Congregational, and resolutions were adopted on the subject, the preamble to which is as follows, viz. :—

“WHEREAS, there are a number of professing christians in our midst who came from congregational churches, and as it is desirable that we should unite our energies as much as possible, Resolved,” &c.

These resolutions provided that a Congregational member of the church under discipline, might be tried by the whole body of the church, and the decision of the church should be final, except in case of alleged heresy. when either of the parties might bring it before the Presbytery. The Congregational churches were invited to take the subject into consideration and unite with the Presbytery upon this plan of “pacification and harmony.”

At the second meeting of Presbytery, the subject was again under consideration, and the following resolutions were adopted, viz. :—

1. “Resolved, That the Congregational churches in the Territory be invited to send delegates to the next meeting of Presbytery, to confer and agree upon some plan of union and co-operation between Presbyterian and Congregational churches in the Territory.

“2. Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to prepare articles of practice and rules for regulating Presbytery, based on principles embraced in the Constitution of the Presbyterian church, and the “plan of union,” and adapted to the circumstances of the country.”

At the Third meeting of the Presbytery, Feb. 11, 1840, this committee reported a Constitution and Rules of business, and the following account of the action in the case is given in the minutes of the Presbytery, viz. :—

“As there are several delegates and individuals present from Congregational churches, who are expected to take part in the discussion on this subject, “Resolved, That the Presbytery now go into convention with them for the purpose of deliberation and discussions on this subject.

“The report of the committee was read in the convention, discussed and amended, and recommended to be adopted by the Presbytery. The convention was then dissolved and the Presbytery proceeded with its business. After further discussion, the Constitution and Rules of business reported by the committee and recommended by the convention, were adopted.

“All the delegates from Congregational churches present became members of the Presbytery, and acted in the final adoption of the Constitution and Rules.”

This Constitution contained the general principles embraced in the present arrangement, but retained the name and some of the more distinctive features of a Presbytery.

At the next meeting of the Presbytery, in June 1840, further measures were taken on the subject, and it was—

“Resolved, That for the purpose of consummating the plan of union between Presbyterian and Congregational churches, a special meeting of Presbytery be held on the First Tuesday in October next, at 2 o'clock P. M., at Troy.”

These measures, however, did not fully satisfy the Congregationalists, and they were about to issue a call for a convention to effect a separate organization, when a conference was held between a number of those most interested on both sides, and it was agreed that the convention should be held at the same time and place as the meeting of the Presbytery, that there might be an opportunity for mutual consultation and final action on the subject.

The circular issued on the occasion was signed by Rev. O. F. Curtis, who acted by request and in behalf of the Congregationalists, and who had visited most of the churches with reference to taking measures for an organization, as follows :

“Congregational Convention.”

“A Convention of Congregational ministers and churches will be held at Troy, Walworth

County, on Tuesday the 6th of October, at 2 o'clock, P. M., to consider the plan of union proposed by the Presbytery of Milwaukee, or to adopt such other form of organization as will best subserve the interests of religion in the Territory, and also to deliberate on whatever questions may incidentally arise affecting the cause of Christ. All Congregational Churches are requested to send their delegates, and Congregational ministers and brethren throughout the Territory are invited to attend. Extensive consultation has been had with the churches and ministers on the subject, and it is believed that this arrangement will meet the feelings of all concerned and best subserve the objects contemplated.

OTIS F. CURTIS."

All the articles in the plan proposed which had a bearing on the subject of a union were published, to give the churches opportunity to examine them beforehand. The circular also contained the following certificate and notice, viz. :—

"The above is a true copy of articles agreed upon in convention and adopted by the Presbytery of Milwaukee, in February last, as a part of the Constitution of that body. The Presbytery will meet according to appointment on the 6th of October, but will doubtless adjourn from time to time, to give the Convention opportunity to assemble and transact their business. It is expected that the Congregational churches connected with the Presbytery, will send, each, one delegate to the meeting of Presbytery. Thus, to some extent at least, the same individuals will be members of both bodies, and it is hoped that the important subject of our ecclesiastical organization will be brought to a final issue, and a permanent and happy union be consummated.

“STEPHEN PEET,

“Stated Clerk of Presbytery.

“Milwaukee, Aug. 8, 1840.”

In accordance with this arrangement the meetings of the Presbytery and of the Congregational convention were held at Troy, October 6 and 7, 1840, when the whole subject was discussed and acted on in their separate meetings; several amendments and alterations were made in the Constitution, the name of the body was changed, and after mature deliberation and a solemn and affecting season of prayer, the two bodies were united under the title of “THE PRESBYTERIAN AND CONGREGATIONAL CONVENTION OF WISCONSIN,” and the Constitution, Confession of Faith, and Rules of Business were unanimously adopted as the basis of our union, the expose of our sentiments, and the principles of our ecclesiastical proceedings.

No record or description can give a full impression of the scene and the circumstances which attended this transaction. But the following account of the meeting published in The Home Missionary for January, 1841, will give the reader some idea of the solemnity and interest of the occasion. It was written by Rev. Jer. Porter of Green Bay in a communication to the Secretaries of the American Home Missionary Society, viz. :

“ My principal object in this journey was to attend the meeting of Presbytery and a convention of Congregational churches in the Territory, at Troy, Walworth Co. After travelling five days on horseback in company with a delegate from this church, I arrived at the place of meeting on Tuesday, October 6th. There I saw much to delight me and to inspire high hopes for the religious prosperity of this new land. There were present nine Presbyterian and Congregational ministers, and delegates from more than that number of churches, who had come together praying for the peace of Jerusalem. The object of the meeting was to see if these two denominations could cause the prayer of the Saviour to be answered, so far as related to us, ‘ That they all may be one, as thou Father art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us ; that the world may believe that thou hast sent me.’ Many of us deemed it highly important that in laying foundations in this region so lately redeemed from the heathen, there should ‘ be no division among us.’ For this we prayed very earnestly, and a union was consummated after near two day’s candid deliberation, and after a touching, melting season of social prayer. God seemed evidently in that place by his Spirit, moving upon the hearts of his ministers and members, and drawing them together, as kindred drops mingle into one. The two denominations unite in one ecclesiastical body, to be known by the name of 'The Presbyterian and Congregational Convention of Wisconsin.' Many brethren felt that they had received 'an unction from the Holy One' at this meeting, and that a blessing would follow them to their people."

 Lisbon, Dea. S. Bottsford.

These ministers and delegates were men of experience, who had served the church as Pastors, Elders and Deacons in other portions of the country, and they felt a deep sense of responsibility, and the importance of laying right foundations in this new Territory.

At the time of the last meeting of the Convention at Janesville, in October, just TEN years had elapsed since its organization. During this period, the number of ministers in the State has increased from ten to one hundred, and the number of churches from twenty to one hundred and twenty-five. The meetings of the Convention, from year to year, have been harmonious and profitable, and often they were seasons of deep interest and spiritual refreshing.

The following brief expressions of opinion in reference to this arrangement from disinterested and intelligent individuals who had the means of forming a correct judgment in the case, will not be regarded as out of place here.

The Secretaries of the A. H. M. S. in giving an account of the organization in their Journal for January 1841, expressed their views on the subject in the following language, viz. :—

“ We rejoice that so early in the religious history of Wisconsin, measures have been taken which it is believed will prevent much of the waste of moral power that has afflicted some portions of the country where no such provisions exist.”

Rev. Geo. A. Calhoun, of Connecticut, who attended the meeting of the General Convention at Beaver Dam in October 1849, as a delegate from the General Association of that State, in making his report to that body in June last, closed by saying that the Convention arrangement in Wisconsin, was on the whole most to his mind of any he had ever seen.

The Convention has been for several years in correspondence with the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church and the General Associations in New England. The following is an extract of a letter from the General Association of New Hampshire to the General Convention, reciprocating the proposition for correspondence, viz. :—

“ We have no doubt that such an union as you have formed will promote peace and good will, and subserve the interests of truth. We have deeply regretted the jealousies which have prevailed among those holding the great principles that are set forth in the Westminster Assembly, and differing only in church government, and we hail with joy the union of these churches in one body in Wisconsin.”

PERMANENCY OF THE ARRANGEMENT.

' When the union between Presbyterians and Congregationalists was agreed upon, the idea of separate organizations was abandoned and the Convention was regarded by all concerned as a permanent arrangement. The question has never been raised in the meetings of the Convention during the ten years of its existence. The views of the Convention have, however, been incidentally expressed on the subject in the Narrative of religion adopted in 1845, and ordered to be published, as follows :

“ The experience of five years has demonstrated, most fully, the wisdom of this plan of ecclesiastical organization, and furnished abundant evidence of the Divine approbation in the success which has attended its practical operations. Designed to unite in one common bond, brethren who so nearly agree in all essential points as Congregationalists and Presbyterians do, but who have hitherto been too often divided, both in feeling and effort, it is cause for devout gratitude that our plan of union has succeeded beyond the most sanguine expectations of its warmest friends. It has secured, hitherto, the most perfect harmony among both ministers and churches, and has served to combine, in a remarkable degree, their efforts in urging on to a glorious triumph, the principles of our common religion among us.— Sufficient time has now elapsed to warrant us in congratulating ourselves that the principles of our Convention are permanently established. Every ground of jealousy and contention is removed, and no distinction is known or manifested between churches which adopt either form of government, or between ministers or private members who are connected with them. Congregationalists and Presbyterians are here emphatically one denomination, and it is hoped ever will form but one great, united, harmonious and active brotherhood within our bounds, zealous only for the glory of God and the promotion of his cause."

GENERAL VIEW OF THE CONVENTIONS.

1. The Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Wisconsin was organized January 17, 1839, with four ministers and two churches, and continued nearly two years—held four meetings, received five ministers, dismissed one and received eight churches. It embraced, at the time the Convention was organized, eight ministers and ten churches. The Presbytery was merged in the Convention, and the records have been kept in continuous connection.

2. The General Convention.

The General Convention was organized October 7, 1840, and embraced eight ministers and sixteen churches. It was the only ecclesiastical body for two years, to the autumn of 1842. During this time the Convention held eight meetings, ordained two ministers, installed two, licensed two, and received fifteen ministers and eleven churches; making the whole number of ministers connected with the body twenty-five, and the number of churches twenty-seven. After the organization of the District Conventions, all business of this kind were transacted by these bodies.

The General Convention has had in its connection one hundred and twenty ministers, of whom thirty-two have been dismissed and removed out of the State. Four have died, and two have withdrawn, and connected with another body in the State. The present number of members is eighty-two. Eighteen ministers, including licentiates, have come into the State during the past season, most of them since the annual meetings of the District Conventions, and have not had opportunity to connect with these bodies. The whole number of ministers in Wisconsin, including licentiates, is one hundred, of whom four are engaged in teaching, six are occupied in other callings and have not charge of any church, and two are acting as Agents.

The number of churches connected with the Convention is one hundred and one, including six in Illinois. The whole number of churches in the State, is one hundred and twenty-five. Of the churches not connected with the Convention, a number have been recently organized and have not had opportunity to unite.

3. The District Conventions.

There are four District Conventions, viz.: Milwaukee, Beloit, Mineral Point, and Madison. The first three were constituted by the original division of the churches and ministers into District Conventions June 15, 1842. The latter was set off by division of the Beloit Convention, September 1846.

The Milwaukee Convention held its first meeting at Prairieville, June 28, 1842. It comprised twelve ministers and sixteen churches, and embraced all the counties on the Lake shore, from Illinois to Green Bay. It has held sixteen regular meetings and eleven special and adjourned meetings; has received twenty-seven members, and dismissed twenty-two, licensed two candidates for the ministry, ordained ten, installed seven, dismissed from the Pastoral relation two, and two have died. Has received fifteen churches. It embraces at the present time the counties of Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Waukesha, Washington, Sheboygan, and Manitowoc. Has in its connection twenty-five ministers, and twenty-seven churches. Houses of worship within the bounds of Convention, fourteen.

The Beloit Convention held its first meeting at Prairie du Lac, (now Milton) September 18, 1842. It embraced the country between the Lake counties on the east, and the Mining region on the west, and extended from the line of Illinois to Lake Winnebago. The number of ministers originally connected with it was nine, number of churches fifteen. It has held eighteen regular meetings and seven special meetings. Has received thirty-seven ministers, besides the original members, dismissed thirty, ordained eight, installed eight, licensed two, and dismissed from the Pastoral relation two. Has received twenty seven churches.

In September 1846, this Convention was divided, and a large portion of territory, with fifteen ministers and fifteen churches was set off to constitute the Convention of Madison. It now embraces only three counties, viz. : Walworth, Rock and Green ; and has connected with it seventeen ministers and twenty-seven churches. Five of the churches are in Illinois. Houses of worship ten.

The Mineral Point Convention held its first meeting at Platteville, September 4, 1842. It had in its connection four ministers and eleven churches, and embraced the "Mining region," as it was called. It has held fifteen regular meetings and ten special meetings. Has received eighteen ministers, dismissed twelve, ordained seven, including two by council composed of members of Convention, installed five, licensed three, and dismissed from Pastoral relation two. Has received eight churches. Now embraces the counties of Iowa, Lafayette, Grant, Crawford, Richland and St. Croix. Has in its connection ten ministers and nineteen churches. Houses of worship nine.

The Madison Convention held its first meeting at Beaver Dam the third Thursday in November 1846. It embraced fifteen ministers and seventeen churches, and covered the same territory as at present, viz. : the counties of Jef-erson, Dane, Dodge, Sauk, Columbia, Marquette, Fond du Lac, Winnebago, Calumet and Brown. It has held eight regular meetings and five special meetings. Has received ten ministers; ordained five, including two by council, dismissed three and has received eleven churches. The present number of ministers is twenty-three, churches twenty-eight. Houses of worship six..

This Convention covers a large extent of territory, and its ministers and churches increase with such rapidity that a division and the erection of a new Convention will probably be required soon.

POWERS AND RELATIONS OF THE CONVENTIONS.

It will be a matter of interest to those who are not acquainted with the practical workings of the Conventions, to know what are their powers and prerogatives, and the relations which they sustain to the churches connected with them. A brief statement on the subject is therefore deemed proper and desirable.

The Principle Involved.

The great principle involved in this arrangement is contained in the first Article of the Constitution, which is fundamental and unalterable, as follows :—

“ Churches belonging to this Convention may adopt either the Presbyterian or Congregational mode of government, and shall each be represented at the meetings of the Convention by one delegate.”

In the organization of a church, the form of government is decided by the vote of the majority of the members, and the church acts and is governed accordingly. The minority yield their preferences, and coincide with the form of government thus adopted. There is no amalgamation or mixture of the two modes of government, in the same church. The difficulty of this complex arrangement is wholly avoided, except perhaps in one or two instances. Each church is either Presbyterian or Congregational, and transacts its business according to the established rules and usages of other churches of the same order. Presbyterians and Congregationalists agree to unite and act in one body upon these principles; regarding themselves as brethren of the same faith, and recognizing the right of the majority to decide in matters of this kind.

Relation of the Convention to Presbyterian Churches.

The Convention sustains the same relation to Presbyterian churches connected with it as a Presbytery, and has the same jurisdiction over them. The churches, by their adoption of the Presbyterian mode of government, impliedly agree to be governed by the principles and rules of Presbyterian bodies. They transact their business according to the Book of Discipline of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and have the right of appeal. The only modification is in regard to the election of elders for a limited time or for life. Most of the churches elect for a limited period, generally for one, two, or three years, and at the expiration of that time, elect others, or re-elect the same. This provision was made by the Presbytery of Wisconsin while under the constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and was thence incorporated into the constitution of the Convention.

Relation of the Convention to the Congregational Churches.

The Congregational churches in Wisconsin are purely Congregational, and retain all their rights and privileges as such. They do their business in a congregational way, and the decision of the church is final. The Convention stands in the same relation to Congregational churches as an Association with lay delegation, or, rather a Consociation. It has, however, no jurisdiction over the churches, unless by the action of the church appeals are allowed, or cases are referred to Convention for decision.

There is a provision in the constitution which requires the records of the churches to be reviewed; but this rule does not give the Convention any control in a judicial sense. It is designed, so far as Congregational churches are concerned, to afford opportunity for advice and suggestion in regard to the manner of keeping records, and to enable Convention to discover any essential disorders or departure from sound doctrine, in which case they have the right to withdraw fellowship from the church, and thus dissolve the connection.

Relation of the Convention to the Ministers.

Ministers connected with the Conventions are governed by the Constitution, or rules of business as far as they specify. The Constitution however makes no provision for discipline, but purposely leaves it to the rules and usages of the denominations concerned. Hence, in case of the discipline of a minister the Convention follows the rules and usages of the denomination which he prefers. The trial of a Congregational minister is conducted as such trials are conducted in Congregational bodies in New England, or elsewhere. In case of a Presbyterian minister, the trial is conducted according to the Book of Discipline in the same manner as in a Presbytery. He has, however, only one appeal, viz.: from the District Convention to the General Convention.

Councils.

Congregational Churches are at liberty to call Councils if they choose. Councils have been held, at various times, from an early period, and for all the purposes for which councils are called, namely, the ordination, installation, and dismiss-sion of ministers, and for organizing churches; and the Convention has given its sanction by the admission of the ministers so ordained and the churches so organized. Most business of this kind is, however, transacted by the District Conventions, as a matter of convenience and is the preference of the churches.

ACTION OF THE CONVENTION ON VARIOUS SUBJECTS.

The position and views of the Convention in regard to benevolent efforts, reforms and other topics will be seen from the action of the body on these subjects at different times. Numerous resolutions, in various forms, have been discussed and adopted from year to year—generally with entire unanimity. Only a few of the briefest and most comprehensive of these resolutions are given.

CHRISTIAN BENEVOLENCE.

“Resolved, That the claims of each of the great objects of benevolence ought to be statedly brought before our respective congregations, and each member of the church, and others who may be favorably disposed, be personally invited to aid the cause by their contributions.

“Resolved, That we will cordially receive the aid of authorized agents to assist in the work of benevolence ; but we feel it our duty to have our own system of contributions and collections faithfully carried out, whether assisted by agents or not."

Home Missions.

"Resolved, That the cause of Home Missions is of paramount importance in its relations to our country and the world, as constituting a bond of union between the East and the West, and diffusing intelligence and a sound moral influence throughout the country.

"Resolved, That the American Home Missionary Society has contributed largely to the establishment and prosperity of the churches in the West, and especially in Wisconsin, and is, on this account, entitled to the gratitude and co-operation of the christian community, and of all the friends of religion and moral improvement in the State.

"Resolved, That the manifest success of the American Home Missionary Society in its operations hitherto, the great importance of its specific work, and the increased demands for such labors which the providence of God is now pressing on that Society, commends this cause to the warmest sympathy and interest of our churches."

Foreign Missions.

"Resolved, That the cause of Foreign Missions is eminently a cause of benevolence, and one whose progress every christian should understand, and by prayer and contributions strive to promote.

“Resolved, That the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions is worthy of the confidence, and is entitled to the sympathies, and the co-operation of the friends of man and the friends of Christ.”

The Bible Cause.

“Resolved, That the efforts of the gospel ministry must be accompanied with the free circulation of the Word of God; and it is in training the minds of men to search its great and solemn truths, and bringing their hearts to yield to its sacred obligations, that we are to contend successfully with infidelity on the one hand, and false christianity on the other.

“Resolved, That the American Bible Society has our confidence and our sympathies, and we pledge to it our prayers and our co-operation for the attainment of the great end it has in view.”

The Tract Cause and the Colporteur Enterprise.

“Resolved, That the efforts of the American Tract Society are among the most efficient and auspicious means of benevolent enterprise, and as such has strong claims to the sympathy, prayers and co-operation of the church.

Resolved, That the Colporteur enterprize, under the supervision of the gospel ministry, is a powerful means of usefulness, especially among the scattered population of the West, and is entitled to the prayers and patronage of this Convention and of the churches under its care."

In October 1848, a series of resolutions were adopted by the Convention, (1) "commending the action of the Prudential Committee of the A. B. C. F. M. in investigating the relations which the Indian Missions sustain to slavery," and expressing "increased confidence in the Board, and the purpose to give it their earnest co-operation, in the hope that the whole body will sustain and carry out the position of their Committee on the subject."

(2.) With renewed expressions of confidence and sympathy in the designs and labors of the American Home Missionary Society, urging upon the attention of the Ex. Committee "the importance and propriety of taking similar action with reference to the missionaries and churches in Slave States which receive their patronage."

(3.) Commending the objects of the American Bible Society, American Tract Society, and American Sunday School Union, and urging upon them "the necessity of conducting their operations so as to bring divine truth, through the presses at their command, to bear more directly upon the sinfulness of slavery whenever and wherever it comes within their legitimate sphere."

Sabbath Schools.

Resolutions have been passed at different times by the Convention on the subject of Sabbath Schools, and commending the objects and operations of Sabbath School Associations, especially the American Sunday School Union, which has accomplished great good in this young and rising State. But the Sabbath School has become so identified with the existence and growth of our churches, and so much a part of the system of religious efforts adopted by ministers and churches, that they are regarded as indispensable. They have been used, and relied on from the first establishment of religious institutions in the State, and are included among the established means of religious instruction. Sabbath Schools have been sustained wherever a church has been organized, or a minister labored, and in many places and settlements where no church existed. Over five thousand children and youth have been instructed in these Schools through the instrumentality of the ministers and members of the churches connected with the Convention; and it is believed that not less than eight hundred of these children and youth have been converted to God, and are now in the church, and some of them are in a course of preparation for the gospel ministry.

Slavery.

Resolved, That we regard the Anti-Slavery enterprise as being based on the principle of the gospel, which requires that we do good unto all men; and as such it commends itself to the sympathies, prayers and exertions of the wise and the good.

“Resolved, That the ministers and the church of Christ are bound, in consistency with their profession, to rebuke all sin—to labor earnestly for the removal of oppression, and to withhold christian fellowship from all those who persist in enslaving, or holding in slavery, their fellow-men. (Passed in 1843.)

“Resolved, That the position of our Delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in declining to receive the sacrament of the Lord’s Supper at the hands of a slave-holder, is in accordance with our oft expressed views, and meets with our cordial approbation.” (Passed October 1849.)

The Sabbath.

“Resolved, That the Christian Sabbath is one of the main pillars of our civil and religious institutions, and that the welfare of our country, the prosperity of religion and the salvation of souls depend on its faithful observance.

“Resolved, That it is the duty of the churches to make the violation of the Sabbath by its members, a disciplinary offence; and that the right observance of this day in the community, depends much on keeping the church pure in their practice in regard to the Sabbath.”

Revivals of Religion.

“Resolved, That the promotion of revivals of religion, is an object which demands special attention and effort ; and that it is the duty of ministers and christians to labor with special reference to this object, and with expectations of immediate results.

“Resolved, That we recognize the Holy Spirit as the blessed and indispensable agent in the promotion of genuine revivals, and in the conversion of sinners—and we believe that God will bestow his influences in answer to prayer.”

A Settled Ministry.

“Resolved, That this Convention regard frequent changes in the ministry as productive of serious evils to the churches and the cause of Christ ; and earnestly recommend to the churches as early as possible to secure the permanent settlement of ministers among them, and to avoid frequent changes and the removal of their pastors ; and that it be recommended to the ministers to instruct their people on this as on other subjects of importance.”

The Peace Society.

“Resolved, That we recommend the claims of the American Peace Society to the ministers and churches in our connexion.”

Temperance.

The cause of Temperance has received the attention and efforts of the ministers and churches in our connexion from the earliest settlement of the country, and for several years it exerted a wide and predominant influence. Several early attempts to establish distilleries failed, because christian men would not afford the facilities for their operations—refusing to grind grain for this purpose. Temperance Societies were organized and temperance meetings held, in which our ministers and members of churches took a prominent and active part. Our churches are all organized upon the temperance principle. The pledge to total abstinence is incorporated into the Covenant adopted by most of the churches, and is made requisite to membership by all. The following resolution on this subject was adopted by the Convention in 1844, viz. :

“Resolved, That the traffic and use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, is a practice wholly inconsistent with christian character, and should be a barrier to christian fellowship; and that it is the duty of the churches and ministers, after suitable admonition, to debar those who are guilty of such practice, from the communion.”

Annual Concerts of Prayer.

Resolutions have been passed from year to year, recommending the observance of the first

Monday in January, as a day of fasting and prayer for the conversion of the world ; and the fourth Thursday in February, as a day of prayer for Colleges and Institutions of Learning.

Attendance on the meetings of the Church.

“Resolved, That the covenant promise made by the members of our churches “to maintain and constantly attend all the institutions of the gospel,” will not allow their absence from the stated meetings of the church, except in cases of extreme necessity ; and that unnecessary absence is a violation of covenant obligations, and should be so treated by the church.”

Church Psalmody.

This subject came early under the consideration of the Convention, and attempts were made to adopt some work which should secure uniformity in our churches. In 1844, a committee who had been appointed for the purpose, made a full and able report on the subject, and in accordance with their recommendation, it was

“Resolved, That this Convention regard the Church Psalmist, as a very judicious and excellent collection of Psalmody, and recommend it to be used in all our congregations.”

It is now in extensive and almost universal use among the churches in the State.

Doctrinal Instruction of Children

“Resolved, That this Convention earnestly recommend to the ministers in our connection to adopt some plan for the systematic instruction of children in the doctrines and institutions of the Church of Christ.”

At a subsequent meeting, on the report of a committee, the following resolutions were discussed and adopted, viz. :—

“Resolved, That it be recommended to the ministers within our bounds to form the children of the church and others into a catechetical class for systematic instruction in the doctrines of the Bible.

“Resolved, That it be recommended to parents to aid their minister in this work by setting apart a portion of each Sabbath to household catechetical instruction.”

Religious Newspaper.

“Resolved, That the interests of Christ’s kingdom in this section of country, demand the establishment of a Religious Newspaper, to be circulated among our churches as a means of instructing and stimulating christians, and as using the mighty power of the press for the salvation of men and building up the Redeemer’s kingdom—and that this Convention give their confidence and pledge their co-operation to the plan of establishing the ‘Western Herald’ at Chicago,” now the Prairie Herald. (Passed October 1845.)

Education of Young Men for the Ministry.

At the meeting of the Convention in October 1849, an evening was devoted to the consideration of "the want of ministers in the West," and after some discussion and addresses on the subject, a committee was appointed to "take the subject into consideration, and to devise a plan adapted to the circumstances of the country, and report at a meeting to be held at the time of the next Commencement at Beloit College."

This meeting was held July 25, 1850. The committee reported, and agreeably to their recommendation, "THE EDUCATION SOCIETY OF WISCONSIN AND NORTHERN ILLINOIS" was organized.

Beloit College.

Some statements were made before the Convention at its meeting in October, 1848, respecting the condition and prospects of Beloit College, whereupon the following resolution was adopted, viz. :—

"Resolved, That this Convention sincerely rejoice in the indications of Divine favor toward Beloit College, and that we most heartily commend it to the confidence and support of the churches within our bounds, and to the community in general."

Some of these now occupy fields in the vicinity of the places where they once labored as Foreign missionaries, and even farther west. Thus the Home effort overtakes the Foreign enterprise and both rejoice together. The fields of labor which these brethren formerly occupied are as follows :

Immediately on leaving the seminary at Andover, he started for the West and spent the winter at a missionary station on the Maumee River in Ohio. studies, and was ordained by the Presbytery of Cortland. Was again stationed at Mackinac during the winter of 1834 and '35. In the spring of 1835, under the direction of the A. B. C. F. M., he proceeded with his family into the Sioux country, (now the Territory of Minnesota,) and commenced a station among the Sioux or Dakota Indians, five miles from the Falls of St. Anthony, where he remained nearly five years. In November 1841 he came to Prairie du Chien and commenced preaching as a Home missionary after having spent fourteen years as a Foreign missionary.

Rev. Wm. Arms, in company with Mr. Coan, who is now at the Sandwich Islands, visited Patagonia, in South America, in 1833, under appointment of the A. B. C. F. M., and made a tour of survey. His health failed, and he returned to America in 1837, and settled in Vermont as a physician. ACCOUNT OF MINISTERS WHO HAVE DIED IN WISCONSIN.

Rev. Wm. M. Adams. Died at Mineral Point March 12, 1842. He was a native of Connecticut and was educated at Union College. Entered the ministry in 1819, and was settled as pastor in Tompkins Co., N. Y. nine years. Afterwards preached at Milan, O. two years, and at Painesville four years. Returned to western New York, and labored a few years. Came to the West in 1837, and settled at Pecatonica, (now Rockton,) Ill. Preached there and at Beloit nearly four years—organized the churches in both these places. In the fall of 1841, he was called to the Presbyterian Church at Mineral Point, and had been engaged a few months in his labors with cheering prospects, when he was called to leave the field of his labors on earth, and to enter his rest. He died at the age of 53.

Rev. Nathaniel Kingsbury. Was a native of New Hampshire—graduated at Amherst College. Was ordained and settled at Mount Vernon, N. H. ten years. Came to Illinois in 1835, and labored at Danville and vicinity about five years. Came to Wisconsin in the fall of 1840. Preached at Racine six months. Commenced laboring at S. Prairieville in April 1841, and continued to preach till the spring of 1843, when his health began to fail. He died July 12, 1843, aged 46.

Rev. David A. Sherman. Died at Racine, December 4, 1843, aged 62. He came to Wisconsin in June 1840, and commenced preaching at East Troy where he remained three years. Afterwards he labored a few months at Pike Grove and Mount Pleasant. Was taken sick and carried to the house of a relative in Racine, where he died in about two weeks. Mr. S. was a native of New Haven, Ct.,—was educated in Yale College, and had spent most of his life in teaching. Was several years the President of a College in Tennessee. His labors and counsels were highly valued among us, and he was found at his post ready and waiting when the summons came.

Rev. Silas Hubbard. Who was from the Presbytery of Angelica, N. Y., and had formerly labored in several places in that region. Came to Wisconsin in 1840—preached occasionally in different places, but had not charge of a church. He was advanced in life—had seen much affliction, and finally settled on a small piece of land near N. Rochester, where he lived an exemplary life, and was useful to the church in that place. He died in August 1846, aged 65.

Rev. Edward Allen. Came to Wisconsin in 1846, and died a few months after his arrival. He was a native of Connecticut—graduated at Yale College, entered the Law and spent several years in the practice in Oneida Co., N. Y. Left that profession under a conviction that it was his duty to preach the gospel—entered the ministry in 1832, and preached several years at Bridgewater and at Paris Hill, N. Y. His health failed, and he removed to this State and settled his family in the vicinity of the village of Fulton, Rock Co., intending, on the recovery of his health, to resume his labors as a minister. He died September 19, 1846, in the 51st year of his age. His remains were subsequently removed to Rockton, Ill., and his family returned East.

Rev. Fred. H. Pitkin. Commenced and closed his labors in the ministry in Wisconsin. He was a native of East Hartford, Ct. Was educated at Amherst College and East Windsor Theological Seminary. Was ordained in September 1845, and received a commission from the A. H. M. S. to labor in the West. Came to Wisconsin, and commenced preaching to the Congregational Church at Delavan in October 1845, where he continued to labor until the time of his melancholy death, which occurred April 26, 1847. He was a young man of undoubted piety and good talents. His prospects of a life of usefulness were cheering, and his friends fondly anticipated great good from his labors in this western field. But the ways of Providence are often mysterious. He died by his own hands, under a gloomy mental derangement, at the age of 27, having been in the ministry less than two years.

Rev. Eber Child. Died at Fulton, Rock Co., December 15, 1847, aged 48 years. He was a native of Vermont. Was educated at Dartmouth College and Andover Theological Seminary. Was settled a few years at Deering, N. H., and at Calais, Me. In 1839 he came to western New York and labored several years, principally at Byron and Newstead. Came to Wisconsin in October 1846. Preached at Mt. Zion several months, and had removed his family into the town of Fulton, (east side of Rock River,) where he expected to organize a church and preach alternately, there and at Mt. Zion. He died after a very short sickness, leaving evidence from a life of consistent piety and usefulness, of his being an accepted servant of Christ.

Rev. A. D. Harris. Came to Wisconsin in October 1849 in feeble health, and was not able to preach after his arrival. He reached Wau-pun where he remained at the house of Rev. E. G. Bradford, gradually declining until the 9th of June 1850, when he closed his earthly career. His age was 29. He was a native of New Hampshire. Was educated at Bangor, Me. Preached one year at Standish in that State. Came to Wisconsin under a commission from the A. H. M. S. and was permitted to enter the field he had selected, not however to labor, but to die.

Rev. Wm. Marchant. Came to Wisconsin in 1844 and located his family in Warren, Waukesha Co. He once followed the seas and was captain of a merchant vessel a number of years. After his conversion he left that employment, pursued a suitable course of study and entered the ministry. Was ordained and preached ten years in Massachusetts, chiefly on Martha's Vineyard. He labored about three years at Warren, when his health, which had been feeble for some years, compelled him to cease preaching. He died November 30, 1850, aged 52.

Rev. A. Gaston. The name of this brother is placed among the ministers of Wisconsin who have died, notwithstanding he had removed from the State and become connected with another body a short time previous to his death. He was seven years a member of our Convention, a successful laborer in this field, and a brother beloved. Mr. Gaston was pastor of the church at Delavan, and preached a portion of the time at Elkhorn and Sugar Creek. He died at Galesburg, Ill., December 21, 1849, aged 40. In his last days on earth, he was a very great sufferer, but the gospel which he preached with earnestness and fidelity to others, proved adequate to his support and comfort when flesh and heart were failing him. In an interview with a ministerial brother from this State, who was Providentially in the place and called on him a few days before his death, he said "I expect to go soon. All I have done is nothing. My confidence is alone in Jesus Christ. I trust that through him I shall stand accepted. Tell my brethren in Wisconsin that I love them. My heart is with them. I love their organization, and the harmony which always existed among them. Tell them to let nothing interrupt that harmony and to be faithful. I expect to meet them in heaven."

MINISTERS IN THE STATE CONNECTED WITH OTHER ECLESIASTICAL BODIES.

Two ministers who were formerly members of the Convention, connected themselves with the O. S. Presbytery at the time of its organization in 1847. One of them was early on the ground, aided in the organization of the Convention, and was a member six years. Both were licensed and ordained by Congregational bodies. One of them was ordained by the Hampshire Association, Mass. in 1839, expressly for the West.

Two other ministers are connected with N. S. Presbyteries in Illinois. One of them united while laboring in that State among churches which belonged to Presbytery. The other was never connected with the Convention, but is pastor of an Independent Presbyterian Church. Both of these were also ordained by Congregational bodies.

There have been five ministers connected with the Conventions in Wisconsin, while laboring in Illinois, and eight churches in that State have belonged to the Conventions. Two of these ministers and one church, have been dismissed to the Presbytery in Illinois, and two ministers and two churches to Congregational Associations in that State. One minister and five churches in Illinois are still connected with the Convention.

ADDITIONAL—WELSH MINISTERS.

Rev. Wm. Parry. Ordained in Wales. Came to Wisconsin in 1848. Preached to the Welsh Church at Dodgeville nearly two years.

Rev. Evan J Evans. Came to Wisconsin in 1848. Preaches to the Welsh Congregational Church at Racine.

Rev. David Lewis. Preaches to the Welsh Churches at Oshkosh, Neenah, and Utica.

Rev. Owen Owens. Preaches to the Welsh Church near Berlin. Was ordained over that Church December 1850.

 PECULIAR CASES.

I. Coddling. Was ordained by a Council at Waukesha, in 1848. Preached at that place one year, and returned to Illinois, where he is lecturing on Biology, &c. He was not connected with the Convention, and never had their confidence or countenance as a minister of the gospel.

D. McPherson. Formerly belonged to the Independents in England. Was ordained by a Council at Mt. Pleasant in 1840, and preached about two years. Has since been excluded from the Church.

P. W. Nichols. Formerly a preacher in the Methodist E. Church. Was received into Convention in 1842. Preached about two years at Prairie du Sac. His ministrations being unacceptable, he turned to other employments, and has since been deposed from the ministry for immoral conduct.

CHURCHES WHICH HAVE BECOME EXTINCT.

Several churches have been organized and existed for a time which, for various reasons, have been disbanded. Some of these churches were for a season flourishing and useful, and it is believed their history is of sufficient interest to justify a brief notice in this work.

BELMONT.

A Presbyterian church, of six members, was organized at this place, August 5, 1838, by Rev. A. Kent and I. E. Heaton. Mr. Heaton came to this place in 1837, and taught a school and preached nearly two years in "his own hired house." The communion was celebrated by the church once in two months regularly.

In 1836, the Legislature of the Territory of Wisconsin, which then included Iowa, held its sessions at this place. A number of buildings were erected and the beginning of a beautiful village was made. A weekly political paper was published, for some time, entitled the "Belmont Gazette." The place subsequently declined, and in 1844 the church was disbanded, and most of the members connected with the church at Platteville.

CALUMETVILLE.

A Presbyterian church was organized in this place in January, 1843, by Rev. C. Marsh and Jer. Porter. Number of members, nine. No regular preaching. Some of the members died and others removed from the place and the church became extinct, after a feeble existence of about two years. The ground is now occupied chiefly by foreign population.

CASSVILLE.

This church was organized in September, 1842, by Rev. J. D. Stevens, and embraced thirteen members, five of whom were received on profession, being the fruit of a revival at the time. Mr. J. H. D. Street, a licentiate of the Mineral Point Convention, preached here nearly two years, and Rev. S. Chaffee about the same length of time. Some additions were made to the church, but the place declined. Many of the members lived nine miles distant, in the vicinity of Bee Town, and when the church was organized in that place, in 1847, they united, and this church was dissolved.

Rem.—This place sprung up in 1835 and '36 and was flourishing for a short time. A company from Albany, N. Y., expended a large amount in buildings and improvements. A public house was erected which, it is said, cost nearly $40,000; but the reverses of the times and the unhealthiness of the place operated to prevent its growth. Situated on the Mississippi River, fifty miles above Galena.

SOUTH PRAIRIEVILLE.

This church was organized Jan. 17, 1840, by Rev. M. Ordway, and consisted of twenty-four members. It enjoyed regular preaching for several years and was a flourishing and influential church. Additions were made from time to time both by letter and on profession. The whole number received was over seventy.

Rev. N. Kingsbury was their minister from April 1841 to July 1843, when he died. Rev. C. Warner preached here half the time from July 1843 to January 1845, and Rev. E. D. Seward from May 1845 to May 1846. About this time a large number of the members removed from the place. The church of Genesee brought its centre or place of meeting to their present location, about three miles distant, and in March 1847 this church was disbanded, and the members united with the churches at Genesee and Waukesha.

FRANKLIN.—Milwaukee Co.

A Congregational church was formed in this place June 3, 1841, embracing ten members. Rev. J. U. Parsons preached here half the time two years, and Rev. L. Rood one year. A few members were added, but the increase of foreign population prevented much growth, most of the members removed from the place and the church was disbanded in 1846.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

A Congregational church was organized at this place (four miles from Racine,) in November 1842, by Rev. H. Foote and S. Peet. It enjoyed preaching a part of the time and increased its members to some extent. After a few years, however, several of the members removed, and it was deemed inexpedient to sustain an organization in the place. Most of the members united at Racine and the church became extinct.

Rev. D. A. Sherman occupied this field at the time he died.

FOX LAKE.

A church was organized at Fox Lake, Dodge Co., in July 1845, consisting of eight members. It was then anticipated that the population of the place would increase more rapidly than it has. No regular preaching was enjoyed by the church. The members were somewhat scattered, one died and others removed from the place and the church became extinct.

Rem.—The first sermon preached in Dodge Co., was delivered in this place by the writer, June 12, 1839, in a log house. The entire population of the County were present and a few individuals besides, making a congregation of between thirty and forty.

YORKVILLE.

A Congregational church was organized in this place in 1841, by Rev. Cyrus Nichols, who afterwards preached to them a portion of the time for two or three years. Removals and other causes reduced the number of members, till the church ceased to maintain the ordinances and became extinct. The details respecting this church could not be obtained.

PART IV.

CHARACTER OF THE CHURCHES.

The religious institutions of Wisconsin bear, in a good degree, the impress of New England. A large proportion of the population either came directly from that section of country, or are of New England descent. Our ministers are nearly all of eastern origin and eastern education. The doctrines which have made that section of country lovely and renowned, and given it such power and influence in the land, are the doctrines received by our churches, adopted by our Conventions, and preached by our ministers. To a great extent, also, the order which characterizes the churches in that region prevails among us. Our churches have been graciously preserved from the errors, disorders and divisions which have afflicted some portions of Zion.

DOCTRINAL VIEWS.

The doctrinal views of the ministers and churches may be seen in their Confession of Faith.

Measures were taken at an early period to provide a well expressed and sound Confession of Faith, and Covenant. The one in use among us was prepared with great care by a committee, and after mature consideration was unanimously adopted by the Convention, as an expression of their doctrinal sentiments, and recommended to be used by the churches. It is made the duty of the Conventions by their constitution, when a minister proposes to unite with the body, "to satisfy themselves respecting his religious sentiments and conduct." All who have been received into the Convention have given their cordial assent to this Confession of Faith, and it is believed that they hold and preach those great doctrines of the Reformation which are held by the ecclesiastical bodies with which we are in correspondence.

The churches are not required to adopt this Confession in form, but they are required to give evidence that they receive the doctrines it contains. If different articles are adopted they are presented and examined when application for admission is made.

This Confession of Faith was printed at an early date and extensively circulated, and is adopted by most of the churches in the State, thus, producing a general uniformity in this respect.

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED.

The history of the rise and progress of religious institutions in this State is without a parallel, in respect to their early establishment and their rapid advancement. Fifteen years ago this country was occupied by the wild red man and the wild prey which he followed in the chase. In 1836 one minister entered this field and commenced his labors, and one church was organized during that year. In 1839, when the writer passed over the Territory and explored its situations and wants, he found three ministers and five or six churches. From that time there has been a constant accession of ministers and a rapid increase of churches from year to year. There are now on this ground one hundred ministers and one hundred and twenty-five churches. An ecclesiastical organization has been established, consisting of a General Convention and four District Conventions, which happily unite these churches and ministers in one body; and over forty Houses of Public Worship have been erected.

But these statistics and general statements by no means show what has been accomplished. An amount of moral influence has been exerted by these ministers and churches on the forming character of this young and growing State, which no arithmetic can compute and no mere figures express. The Gospel has been preached not only to congregations connected with these churches, but to multitudes in other places and in the scattered settlements of the country. Sabbath schools have been extensively established, and multitudes of children and youth have thus been brought under religious instruction. The Temperance cause has been aided and borne forward in its achievements. The Bible has been widely circulated. Tracts and religious books has been scattered over the State. The observance of the Sabbath has been promoted; the cause of education has been advanced; common schools have been encouraged; select schools and academies have been established and sustained, and a College has been founded and put in successful operation that is adequate to the wants of the country in this respect;—and what is more than all, revivals of religion have been enjoyed among the churches from year to year which have resulted in the hopeful conversion of nearly three thousand souls.

INFLUENCE AND EFFORTS OF THE A. H. M. S.

These happy results are to be traced in a great measure to the influence and efforts of the American Home Missionary Society. The early occupancy of the field by that Society, its efficient aid and continued fostering care have placed the cause of religion in its present advantageous position in the State. Nearly all the churches in the State were either organized by the missionaries of that Society, or have been aided in the support of their ministers by its funds. Most of the ministers who have labored in this field have received their support in part from this source. The whole number who have been aided by this Society from the beginning is one hundred and twenty, of whom thirty have removed to fields of labor out of the State, eight have ceased to receive aid, and five have gone to their reward on high. Ten churches once aided by this Society now support their own ministers. Those ministers who are now sustained by their own people, are occupying ground prepared to their hands by the missionaries of the A. H. M. S., and building on foundations laid by them.

The whole amount of funds which this Society has expended in Wisconsin is about Sixty-five Thousand Dollars. The whole number of ministers aided one hundred and twenty. Years of labor performed four hundred and twenty.

NOTE.—The author had prepared a Table giving the number of missionaries on this field each year, the amount expended, number of conversions, and other results; but being unable to obtain the items relative to the past two years, which were necessary to complete the table, it was omitted.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

THE STOCKBRIDGE INDIANS.

The Congregational Church of Stockbridge was organized in 1818 at New Stockbridge, On-aida Co., N. Y. It was composed of members belonging to a colony of Indians who settled on the White river, Indiana. There they held meetings among themselves and read Scott's Commentary. In 1821 this colony removed to Wisconsin, and located at Statesburgh, on the Fox river, twenty miles above Green Bay. They kept up their meetings here also.

In 1527 Rev. Jesse Miner being sent out by the A. B. C. F. M., made them a visit, and the next year he was appointed a missionary to these Indians and arrived among them in July 1828. He died the next March, after having labored among them eight months, during which time there was a revival of religion and about 20 added to the church.

Rev. Cutting Marsh was appointed missionary by the A. B. C. F. M. to these Indians and arrived among them in May 1830. In 1834 the nation sold out the lands on the Fox river, and removed to the east side of Lake Winnebago, and called the name of the new town Stockbridge. Mr. Marsh labored among this people over eighteen years, during which time several seasons of revival were enjoyed and additions were made to the church. The number of members at one time amounted to about 70. In 1838 the church was reduced by the removal of a part of the nation to Missouri. It has been greatly distracted and divided by political dissension,—one party are now citizens of the U. States and the other remain in the Indian state.

CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT.

A few churches have changed their form of government since their organization. The following statements, in reply to enquiries in respect to the cause of these changes, are given that the matter may be understood as it is:—

Whitewater.—From the Pastor of the church.

“The form of government was changed in April 1845 by a unanimous vote. When I came here the church was called Presbyterian, but the elders were not ordained. I advised them to be one thing or the other, and by unanimous vote the congregational form of government was adopted.”

At the organization of this church the Presbyterian form of government was adopted by the casting vote of the minister who formed the church.

Spring Prairie.—From the clerk of the church.

“When the church was organized the Congregational members were induced to believe that the Presbyterian form of government was best adapted to this region and voted for it,—afterwards became convinced to the contrary. A number of members moved into the place with strong Congregational preferences, who desired a change. The vote was unanimous.”

Platteville.—From the pastor of the church.

“Our church changed to Congregational because nearly all the original members had gone away, and those who took their places came in with preferences in favor of Congregationalism.”

Sugar Creek.—Action of the church.—Extract from the Records.

“Whereas the majority of the members of this church came from Congregational churches and are favorable to that form of government, therefore, voted, that this church be changed from Presbyterian to Congregational.”

There was one dissenting vote.

CHURCHES WHICH HAVE JOINED THE O. S. PRESBYTERY.

Two small Congregational churches formerly connected with the Convention became Presbyterian and united with the O. S. Presbytery about the time of its organization in 1847. Most of the members of these churches were Congregational, many of them came directly from New England, and adopted the Congregational form of government at their organization by a unanimous vote. The influence of the ministers who were laboring with these churches and proffers of aid in the support of preaching &c., are understood to have been connected with these changes.

No church has left the Convention and joined the O. S. Presbytery on account of dissatisfaction with the ecclesiastical arrangements, nor is this the reason why the members of the N. S. Presbyterian and Congregational churches go into organizations connected with that body.

ART. X. Delegates from corresponding bodies shall be entitled to deliberate and advise, but not to vote in any decision of the Convention.

ART. XI. All amendments or alterations of this Constitution, or of the Confession of Faith, shall require the concurrence of a majority of the District Conventions, and no amendment of their Constitution or of the Confession of Faith shall be adopted until it shall have been submitted to this body and receive its sanction.

CONFESSION OF FAITH.

ARTICLE I. We believe there is one God, the Creator, Preserver, and Governor of the universe; that he is a Spirit, self-existent, independent, unchangeable, eternal, infinite in being, wisdom, power, holiness, justice, goodness, mercy and truth.

ART. II. We believe that the scriptures of the Old and New Testament were given by inspiration of God; that they contain a complete and harmonious system of divine truth, and are the only perfect rule of religious faith and practice.

ART. III. We believe that there are three persons in the Godhead, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost; that these three are in essence one, and in all divine perfections equal.

ART. IV. We believe that God governs all things according to his eternal and infinitely wise purpose, so as to render them conducive to his own glory, and the greatest good of the universe, and in perfect consistency with his hatred of sin, the free agency of man, and the importance of the use of means.

ART. V. We believe that man in his primitive state was perfectly holy ; that he fell from that state by sinning against God ; and in consequence of the apostacy of Adam, all mankind are totally depraved, and by nature, children of wrath, and cannot be restored to the favor of God without an atonement.

ART. VI. We believe that the Lord Jesus Christ, the only and well believed son of God, assumed our nature, perfectly obeyed the law of God, suffered and died the just for the unjust, making a sufficient atonement for the sins of all mankind ; that God can now consistently exercise mercy towards sinners, and that he will pardon all those who repent and believe the Gospel.

ART. VII. We believe that God did from eternity choose some of the human race to salvation through sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth ; and that all those whom he has thus chosen, he will renew and sanctify in this life, and keep them by his power, through faith unto salvation.

ART. VIII. We believe that in order to acceptance with God, the sinner must be born again, and that regeneration is a moral change produced by the influence of the Holy Spirit operating on the mind through the truth.

ART. IX. We believe that men are free and voluntary in all their conduct ; that their entire depravity, the purpose of God respecting their salvation, and the agency of the Spirit in regeneration, do not destroy or in the least impair their free agency ; that the offer of salvation is freely and sincerely made to all men ; and that those who perish under the light of the Gospel, perish by voluntarily rejecting its offers of eternal life.

ART. X. We believe that Christians are justified freely by grace through faith ; and that although they are thus freely justified, still the law of God as a rule of duty remains in full force, and that all men are under obligations perfectly to obey it.

ART. XI. We believe that the visible church of Christ consists of visible saints who publicly profess their faith in him, and covenant to walk together in the ordinances of the Gospel.

ART. XII. We believe in the divine appointment of the christian Sabbath, and of the sacraments of the New Testament, baptism, and the Lord's Supper, which all are under obligation in the exercise of faith to observe ; and that it is the duty of parents to dedicate their children to God in baptism, and train them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

ART. XIII. We believe that the soul is immortal, and at the last day Christ will raise the dead and judge the world in righteousness ; that all who die impenitent will go away into everlasting punishment ; and the righteous be received to heaven to enjoy eternal felicity.

COVENANT.

You viewing yourselves subjects of special divine grace, and under obligation to confess Christ before men, do now, in the presence of God, angels and men, acknowledge your obligations to be the Lord's, and do here solemnly consecrate yourselves and all that you have, forever, to God, through Jesus Christ. You renounce the ways of sin, and choose the Lord Jehovah to be your God and eternal portion; the Lord Jesus Christ to be your only Saviour, and the Holy Ghost to be your Sanctifier and Comforter. You take God's Holy Word to be your rule of faith and practice, and you engage, by the help of His grace, to conform to it in all your conduct. You promise to maintain and constantly attend all the institutions and ordinances of the Gospel, Baptism and the Lord's Supper, public worship, and the strict observance of God's holy Sabbath.

You promise daily to maintain secret prayer, to encourage family worship and the seasonable dedication of children to God in Baptism, and to instruct, govern and restrain from vicious practices and company all who may be under your care. You promise not to conform to the world or indulge in vain conversation or amusement, and totally to abstain from the use and traffic of all intoxicating drinks as a beverage. You promise to promote the edification, purity, and peace of the church, to watch over its members in christian meekness, and brotherly love, and to submit to its discipline until you are regularly dismissed therefrom, endeavoring in all things to walk worthy of the vocation wherewith you are called. Relying on divine grace, thus you covenant with God and this church.

Response of the Church.

We, then, the members of this church, do cordially receive you into our communion and fellowship. We welcome you as members of the body of Christ and as fellow-travelers to His rest. We promise by the grace of God to watch over you with meekness and love, and by counsel and prayer to help you forward in the way to Heaven. And may we live together as brethren, glorify Him on earth, and finally join the church triumphant in Heaven, there to unite in the praises of God and the LAMB. Amen.
